ABOUT ME

Currently serving as the Durham Art Guild's board chair, I am a passionate artist and illustrator who has been creating since early childhood. Originally from Richmond, VA I now reside in the Raleigh-Durham area after relocating with my husband back in 2014. A large body of my work focuses on the dichotomy women face between their personal and professional lives. Through my use of vibrant color, I can tackle complex issues while still creating works of art that are aesthetically pleasing.
