

Nancy Keating Contemporary Mosaic Artist Fine Art Meets Fun Art

The meaning of my art is simple: to impart joy.
I hope you're drawn to the colors, the textures, the reflections of light.

A mosaic artist for 20 + years, I began creating mixed media mosaics with a focus on garden art and home decor, using mainly ceramics and found objects. Indiana has a long history in glass, and over time my "mosaic direction" shifted to include conceptual fine art glass mosaics. I enjoy the process: seeing in my mind all the pieces and parts, the colors and textures, the shapes and movement, and bringing this "mosaic of ideas" together as art. My style is heavily influenced by travel in the U.S. and abroad. I find particular inspiration in the brightly colored mosaics of Antonio Gaudi of Barcelona, Spain. To hone my artistic and mosaic technique, I trained at the Institute of Mosaic Art in Oakland, California. I have had the pleasure to study with renowned mosaic artists, including Laurel True and Isaiah Zagar. My self-study includes work with professional tile installers where I have gained technical expertise. I work in my Carmel, Indiana studio and have created countless mosaic pieces, including public works of art and architectural residential installations.
