OTHER WORK

In 2001 I trained in process art methods with Jane Gross, MA & LCSW, of Hamden, CT. Since then I have been facilitating both individuals and groups under the business name of, InnerArt. This work was prominently featured in "Spirituality & Health Magazine," May-June 2007 issue. (In the last few years I have scaled way back on this work to concentrate primarily on my own studio practice.)

Sessions focused on uncensored, creative self-expression, discovery and personal growth.

Some of the settings I brought InnerArt to are:

*Art Associations & Schools

Rowayton Art Association, CT

Watertown Art Association, CT

The Graduate Institute, Bethany, CT

Naugatuck Valley Community College, Waterbury, CT

*Health Care Facilities – working with residents with diverse levels of ability, including persons with severe dementia

Candlewood Valley Health and Rehabilitation, New Milford, CT

The Sarah Pierce, Litchfield, CT

The Villages, Brookfield, CT

EARLIER WORK

Pamela Hochstetter Designs II – Designed, created and marketed handcrafted semi-precious stone jewelry. I engaged in wholesale, retail and custom commissions 1998-2001, while recovering from a long-term, life-threatening illness.

Pamela Hochstetter Designs I – Created, produced and marketed a line of ceramic home furnishings, including hand painted ceramic tiles, thrown lamps, handcrafted cherry tables with tile inlays and dinnerware. I engaged in wholesale, retail and custom commissions, 1982-1991. Wholesaled to six, high-end ceramic tile retailers, including Waterworks and International Tile of Darien. Work featured in New York Times, House Beautiful Magazine, and Connecticut Magazine.
