PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

Preservation Services, Jackson Library, UNCG, Greensboro, NC
University Library Technician/Preservation Services Technical Assistant AUG 2017-present

Preservation Services, a division of Special Collections and University Archives, is responsible for preventing damage to collections and for repairing or replacing material when damage does occur. Conduct conservation and preservation activities, under the supervision of the Preservation Services Manager. Evaluate damaged materials, determine conservation strategy, and implement treatments. Provide maintenance for general materials, repair work for rush items requested by patrons, and construct special housing for unique items for both the general collections and holdings in Special Collections and University Archives.

HF Group/Etherington Conservation Services, Browns Summit, NC
Assistant Book & Paper Conservator 2015-2017

Perform conservation treatments to books and paper for clients such as the Supreme Court Library, Library of Congress, and Library of Virginia amidst many other institutional and private clients. Treatments include surface cleaning, washing, mending, stabilizing for digitization, encapsulation, guarding, deacidification, disbinding, rebinding, and creating custom housing, among other treatments as necessary. Keep records of treatment, assist with lab maintenance, and assist senior conservators as needed.

Emory University Libraries, Atlanta, GA
Book & Paper Conservation Technician 2013-2014

Funded by the National Park Service and Institute of Museums and Library Services Save America's Treasures Grant, worked to conserve African American scrapbooks in the Manuscript, Archives, and Rare Book Library (MARBL) collection. Assessed and treated issues such as stabilizing for digitization, mending, dry cleaning, tape removal, encapsulating, rebinding, and rehousing. Created condition reports, photographed items before and after treatments, kept treatment statistic records, and coordinated with MARBL and Digitization staff. Wrote blog entries for Emory's Scholar Blog about some of the scrapbooks and conservation treatments.

Atlanta Printmakers Studio, Atlanta GA
Education Director 2013-2014

Coordinated the educational programs of the studio including managing the year round class schedule, hiring instructors, publicizing studio classes and events, overseeing class registration, ordering and inventory of supplies, and course evaluations. Planned education events and collaborations in the community including lectures and demonstrations as well as workshops outside the studio for both children and adults that promoted the fine art of printmaking. Taught classes and workshops in letterpress printing, bookbinding, handmade paper, and paper sculpture both in the studio and in the community.

Down Home Girl Studio, Greensboro, NC
Artist/Proprietor/Instructor 2010-present

Work as artist, sculptor, letterpress printer, and binder of artist's books, commission bindings, and blank journals. Teach papermaking, paper sculpture, bookbinding, and letterpress printing classes and workshops at various venues including Atlanta Printmakers Studio, Robert C. Williams Museum of Papermaking, Paper Trail Art Center, and The University of Alabama.

Department of Art, The University of Alabama, Tuscaloosa, AL
